Overview

Cañada College recognizes the continued high cost of textbooks and course materials as a barrier that impacts student success.

An increasing number of Cañada faculty are utilizing zero textbook cost (ZTC) materials and/or open educational resources (OER) for their classes.

Instructors understand that barriers to affordable textbooks and course materials are an equity issue that can be addressed by using course materials available to students at no-cost or lower-cost.

Why choose ZTC & LTC classes?

- Cost Savings: Free or low-cost course materials make education more affordable.
- Flexible Access: Available online, for download, at the library, in print, or as a low-cost bookstore option.
- Day 1 Access: Materials are ready on Canvas from the first day of class.
- Accessibility: OER materials are designed for students using adaptive technology.
- Faculty Customization: Instructors can tailor materials for relevance, diversity, and inclusion.
- Free for All: No restrictions based on enrollment, residency, or program.
- Long-Term Access: Most materials remain available even after the semester ends.
