RE: Call for Comments on Proposed Standards

Dear ABFSE Committee on Accreditation,

California is currently facing a significant shortage of funeral care practitioners, particularly in the field of embalming. Notably, the state only houses two ABFSE accredited institutions, situated approximately 400 miles apart.

Recognizing the urgency of addressing this shortage and aiming to contribute a much-needed service to the community, Cañada College has embarked on the development of a new ABFSE-accredited Funeral Service Education program. Given the constraints of our campus size and budget, our plans rely on maintaining a lean and fiscally responsible program.

A pivotal consideration in this endeavor is the newly proposed standard 6.8, which stipulates that "Every program is required to have at least two full-time faculty members, one of whom may serve in the role of the program director." This proposed standard, if officially ratified, poses a significant challenge for us in meeting accreditation requirements.

The implementation of standard 6.8 would necessitate a thorough re-evaluation of the financial feasibility of launching a funeral program at Cañada College. Balancing the imperative of accreditation with the practicalities of our resources is a critical aspect of this decision-making process.

Additional Questions:

Standard 4.1: The institution/program must have sustainable and sufficient financial resources to provide instruction and facilities in compliance with this manual.

Supporting our students

- Help students transition into the American River College (ARC) program
 - 11 Cañada students placed into the ARC program
 - ARC is creating a hybrid program (~30 seats)
 - Online coursework, in-person practicum
 - Cañada Target program size: 20 students
 - Working on an MOU
- Funeral Attendant and Funeral Arranger Certificates

Funeral Service Program Viability

- Examples of factors to consider
 - Is there sufficient workload to support two full-time faculty members?
 - How does the Funeral Service occupational outlook compare to other Career and Technical Education programs?

To Whom It May Concern,

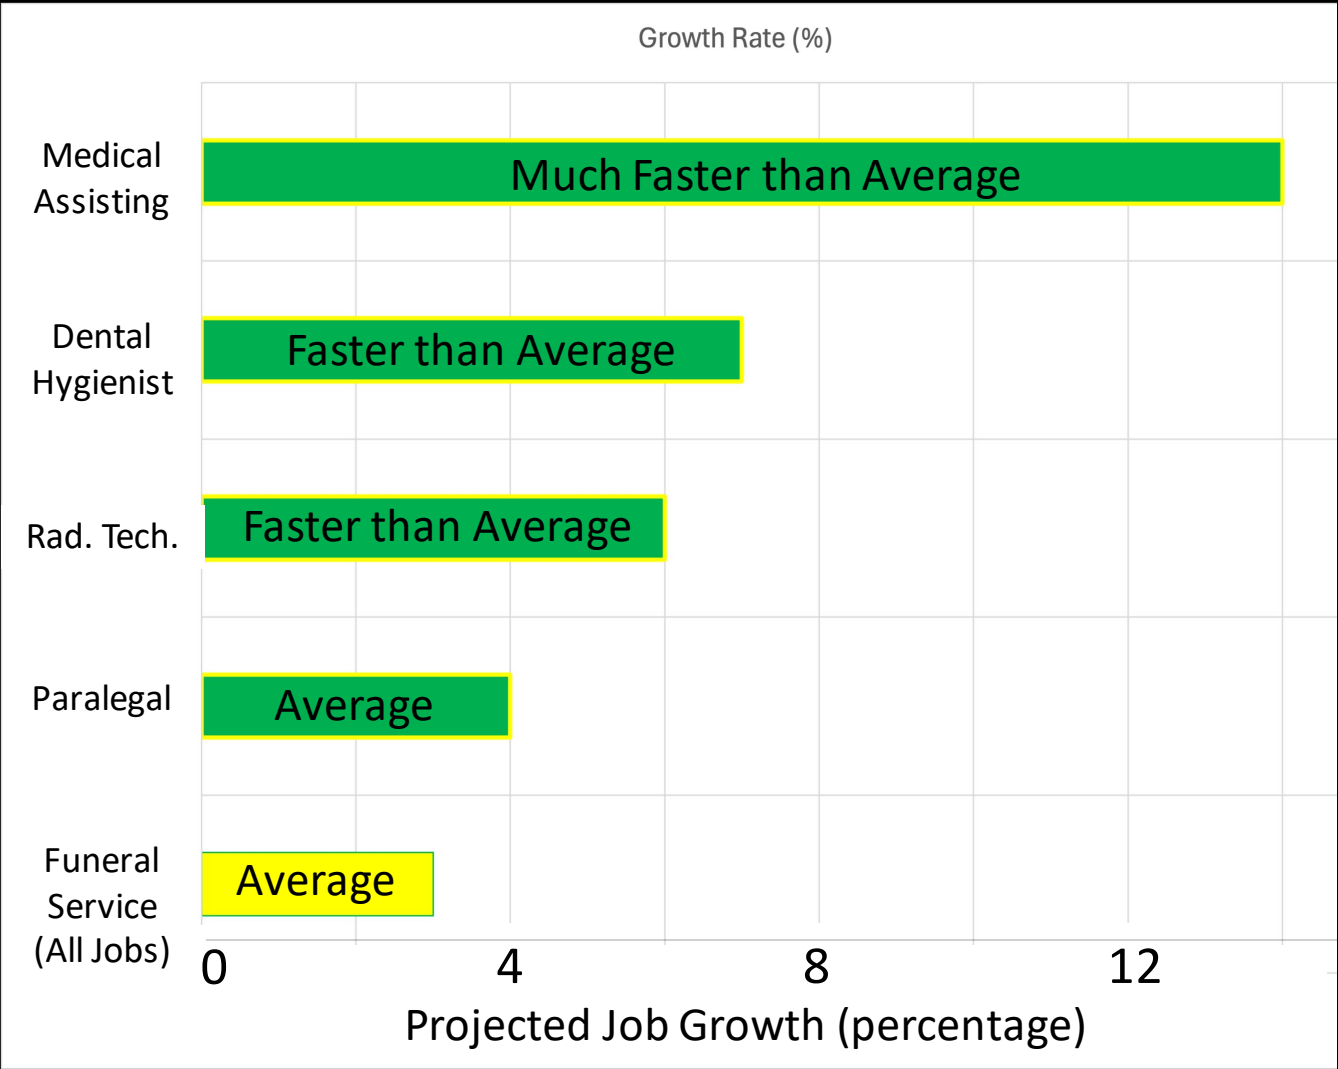

In response to the recent ABFSE accreditation requirement changes, including the addition of requiring two (2) full-time faculty by the academic year of 2027, we as funeral professionals in the State of California want to emphasize how incredibly vital this program is to the future of funeral care in our state.

Overall employment of funeral service workers is projected to grow by 3 percent from 2022 to 2032. About 5,700 openings for funeral service workers are projected each year, on average, over the decade. Many of these openings are expected to result from the need to replace workers who transfer to different occupations, or who exit the labor force entirely, according to the research provided by the U.S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS. Unfortunately, employment demands are outpacing the

Summary

- ARC hybrid program pathway for students
- Accreditation candidacy rejected
 - Only required for embalmers
 - Need two full-time faculty
- Insufficient FTE for two faculty
- Average job growth
- Low number of job prospects relative to other programs

Next Steps

- Do not re-enter the accreditation process (i.e., don't re-apply for candidacy)
- Recommended Motion:
 - Initiate the Program Improvement and Viability process
