Step 1: Creation of the student performance dashboard. -This Dashboard is used to create college wide dialogue about program performance and student learning. -These conversations are used to inform the setting of college priorities and identify opportunities to improve student academic achievement. Student Learning Outcomes and Assessment

Note: Beginning fall 2012, colleges were expected to be at the proficiency level of Student Learning Outcomes assessment (see the ACCJC Rubric for Evaluating Institutional Effectiveness, Part III, Student Learning Outcomes). At this time, colleges are expected to be in full compliance with the Accreditation Standards related to student learning outcomes and assessment. All courses, programs, and student and learning support activities of the college are expected to have student learning outcomes defined, so that ongoing assessment and other requirements of Accreditation Standards are met across the institution.

35.	Effective practice to share with the field: Describe effective and/or innovative practices at your college for measuring ILOs, documenting accomplishment of ILOs in non-instructional areas of the college, informing college faculty, staff, students, and the public about ILOs, or other aspects of your ILO practice (1,250 character limit, approximately 250 words).  Cañada College assesses its Institutional Learning Outcomes (ILOs) on an annual basis in order to assure institutional effectiveness and promote continuous improvement. The college uses multiple means of assessment: -Data from the Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE) -Data from a survey of students petitioning to graduate with a degree or certificate -Analysis of student ePortfolios The results of these assessments are discussed by our participatory governance bodies, including the Planning & Budgeting Council, and appropriate action plans are developed. Please click on the link for detail: http://www.canadacollege.edu/academicsenate/1314/ILOs_rev The outcomes of the analysis of the student ePortfolios is the faculty found that ILO 1: Critical and Creative Thinking could be better assessed if the creative facet was separated from the critical thinking component. The team also found that students often had difficulty distilling the salient differences between the ILOs. In September 2013, Canada's Academic Senate Governing Council created an ad hoc workgroup to begin revising the ILOs. The following are the result of their work and follow up discussion among the Academic Senate, SSPC, IPC, PBC and ASCC.
Each of the following narrative responses is limited to 250 words. As you develop your responses, please be mindful of success stories that can be reported in the last question of this section. We look forward to including this information from colleges in our report to the Commission and the field in June.

36.	Please discuss alignment of student learning outcomes at your institution, from institutional and course to program level. Describe your activities beyond crosswalking or charting all outcomes to courses in a program (often called "mapping"), to analysis and implementation of alignment in the planning of curriculum and delivery of instruction. Discuss how the alignment effort has resulted in changes of expected outcomes and/or how students' programs of study have been clarified. Note whether the described practices apply to all instructional programs at the college (1,250 character limit, approximately 250 words). Faculty aligned Course SLOs with Program LOs and ILOs, using the Tracdat software system. We are trying to revise the format to make this "mapping" more amenable to meaningful analysis. Currently, course requirements and sequences within Programs are determined by content, prerequisites, and transfer requirements. The state-mandated Transfer Model Curriculum degrees are expected to influence our degree requirements, as each of these TMCs becomes approved. To ensure that students who complete its programs are prepared for their chosen degree, license or employment goal, Cañada College has developed student learning outcomes, program learning outcomes and institutional learning outcomes. Student learning outcomes have been developed for each course offered through the College. Furthermore, the program planning model that Cañada College uses requires every instructional program to annually document its assessment of student learning outcomes in TracDat, an on-line repository for student learning outcomes. The assessment of student learning outcomes serves as the foundation for planning improvement in teaching and learning strategies
37.	Describe the various communication strategies at your college to share SLO assessment results for usage by internal and external audiences. Explain how communications take into account how the information is expected to influence the behavior or decisions of particular audiences. Discuss how communication of student learning outcomes assessment information and results impacts student behavior and achievement (1,250 character limit, approximately 250 words). Assessment of Learning outcomes is integrated into many activities at our college. Department faculty periodically review course and program SLO results at scheduled Professional Development days, for which adjunct faculty are given stipends to promote their participation. Assessment results are part of the annual Program Review and Planning process, and therefore linked to any requests for resources (personnel, equipment, staff support time). All Annual Program Reviews (and SLO reports) are available online to staff and faculty via a SharePoint site (internal website). Comprehensive Program Reviews include presentation before an all-college forum, open to the public. The planning committees (Instructional Planning Committee, Student Services Planning Committee, and Planning & Budgeting Committee) use these Annual and Comprehensive Reviews as a central part of recommendations. including resource allocations. These reports are submitted to the District's Board of Trustees. Students are informed of Course SLOs by their course syllabi.
38.	Explain how dialog and reporting of SLO assessment results takes place at the departmental and institutional levels. Note whether practices involve all programs at the college. Illustrate how dialog and reporting impact program review, institutional planning, resource allocation, and institutional effectiveness (1,250 character limit, approximately 250 words). The college's policy, determined by the SLOAC Advisory Committee, is that each course will have at least one SLO assessed each time it is taught, and that all of a course's SLOs will be assessed within a 4-year period. This policy is designed to give faculty flexibility to apply effort on assessments and pedagogical change where they are needed most. All academic programs report their Course SLO and PLO assessment results via a Tracdat software system. Assessment results are part of the annual Program Review and Planning process, and therefore linked to any requests for resources (personnel, equipment, staff support time). All Annual Program Reviews (and SLO reports) are available online to staff and faculty via a Sharepoint site. The planning committees (Instructional Planning Committee, Student Services Planning Committee, and Planning & Budgeting Committee) use these Annual and Comprehensive Reviews as a central part of recommendations. including resource allocations. These reports are submitted to the District's Board of Trustees.
39.	Please share with us two or three success stories about the impacts of SLO practices on student learning, achievement, and institutional effectiveness. Describe the practices which led to the success (1,250 character limit, approximately 250 words). Achievement measures played a stronger role than student earning outcomes in terms of student success. (Retention, completion, persistence, degree/certificate awarded, and transfer, etc. See #23.) Course SLOs assessment results and dialogues have stimulated individual faculty to take a good look at what they do in the classroom and why, and promoted dialog among instructors about pedagogy. PLO assessment results include sample
