Land and Labor Acknowledgement

2

We acknowledge that Cañada College is situated on the traditional unceded land of the Ramaytush (Rah-my-toosh) Ohlone (Oh-LOW-nee) peoples, and we respect our past elders and honor the present community. Long before Cañada College existed, this area was home to the Ramaytush Ohlone peoples, who still have a presence in the Bay Area today.

We have a responsibility to acknowledge that we as a Cañada community have benefited from the use and occupation of this land and that the tragic legacy of colonization, genocide, capitalism, racism, and oppression still impacts people today.

We also recognize the labor upon which this educational institution, state, and country is built.

We acknowledge the peoples of African ancestry who were enslaved and forcibly brought to this land, and whose forced labor played a major role in the formation of this country. We are indebted to their uncompensated labor and their unwilling sacrifice over hundreds of years—which continues to impact generations today. We honor the legacy of the African diaspora and the continued contribution of their survivors.

We acknowledge the contributions of all immigrant labor, forced labor, and undocumented people who contributed, and continue to contribute, to the building and feeding of this land. We acknowledge their immeasurable sacrifices and work that allow us to gather in this space today.

Let us not forget. Let us honor and engage with the people who have stewarded and labored on this land for generations, and let us honor these truths—by taking responsibility as a college community to continually educate ourselves about these realities, to affirm our commitment to justice through continual action, and to protect and sustain this land.

BSU Culture and Education Tour Funding Request

BSU would like to embark on an educational event designed to gain a deeper understanding of New York City's academic and cultural landscape. The event begins with a guided tour of Harlem, highlighting its rich history in Black culture, arts, and activism, offering students an immersive experience in one of the city's most iconic neighborhoods. Following this, students will embark on campus tours of prestigious universities such as Cornell, Columbia University, and NYU, where they will explore academic programs, campus facilities, and student life. This event serves as a valuable opportunity for students to not only explore the academic opportunities in NYC but also to connect with the city's cultural roots, all while fostering a deeper appreciation for both higher education and urban history. The funding for this initiative will support transportation, tour guides, and necessary accommodations to ensure an enriching and accessible experience for all participants.
